

NEVER AGAIN

'NEVER AGAIN,' Pablo said. As he thought about the job he lost in the restaurant. 'Because of Coronavirus,' he was told. 'Because of lockdowns,' he thought. Yeah. That was it.

He was cleaning up the empty beer bottles that were standing on and falling over the kitchen table. It was a good night. But now he was feeling rough. 'NEVER AGAIN,' he said to himself.

Scrolling through the news, he wondered... what was on next week? He scanned the QR code with his smart phone for more information. He was free, and locked in. ... 'NEVER AGAIN.'
